GRANDER®: LIVING AN ACTIVE LIFE

Revitalized water promotes a sustainable lifestyle

There would be no life without water: it nurtures all organisms and carries minerals, micronutrients, and vitamins exactly to where they are needed. It even facilitates the breathing process. However, it is not just about drinking the two liters of water per day recommended for grown-ups: what counts is the water quality. If your wellbeing is important to you, high demands are in order when it comes to the quality of water. With GRANDER® water revitalization, water is turned into an organic, high-quality drink – straight from the tap.

Outstanding quality you can taste

Many people have a hard time drinking the recommended amount of fluid every day. GRANDER® improves the inner structure of water and restores its original vitality. Due to this quality, people are more inclined to drink it and, as a result, automatically drink more of it. Even children enjoy the water's fine taste and choose it over juice and lemonade.

With GRANDER®, you get high-quality, revitalized water straight from your own tap. But GRANDER® water does not only have advantages in its original shape. It also enhances the taste of other foods and makes them easier to digest. Your morning coffee or tea will have a more intense flavor and better agree with your body. Food that has been produced or rinsed with revitalized water stays fresh for longer and even herbs and greens that have started to wilt regain their freshness thanks to GRANDER® water. Also when used for dough, you can see and taste the difference. Dough becomes fluffier, easier to knead, and needs less baking agent to rise.

Fuel for body and mind

GRANDER® revitalized water substantially improves the general well-being of anyone who drinks or uses it: Drinking enough water of the best quality is good for your health and strengthens your performance. It has a positive impact on concentration and alertness, as the human brain is 85 percent water and an astonishing 1,400 liters pass through this organ every day. To safeguard the most vital functions of your body and to stay fit for many years, it is essential to provide the body with a sufficient amount of high-quality, revitalized water in liquid or solid form.
